man." It makes a man feel curious, it makes the teardrops start, an' you sort o' feel a flutter in the region of your heart. You look up and meet his eyes, you don't know what to say when his hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way—but say, I wish I was a member of the Traveling men's association. O, the world is a curious compound with its honey and its gall, with its care and bitter crosses, but a good world after all. An' a good God must have made it, leastways that is what I say when a hand is on my shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown returned Saturday from a trip on the river.

Here's a good one, written by I. S. M., of Post E, Pennsylvania: When a man ain't got a cent, and he's feelin' kind o' blue, an' the clouds hang dark an' heavy, an' won't let the sunshine through, it's a great thing, O, my brethren, for a feller just to lay his hand upon your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way and say, "I am a Traveling

An interesting cartoon on page one of the TPA magazine for June shows a hotel landlord sitting on the front porch of the hotel in a small village, reading the newspaper. Standing close by, with two big grips, is a sweating traveling man. The dialogue is as follows: Tired Drummer—Why don't you meet the trains any more and haul the grips over? Landlord—Wal, you see, there's only one hotel here now.

Our friend "Wise" may be all right when it comes to wagering on horse racing, but he certainly fell down on the boxing contests on the fourth of July.

Our friend Jack Berry was the victim of a practical joke Saturday evening that will undoubtedly result in giving him more notoriety than he looked for. Jack had been promising the "Mrs." to wash the windows at the house, so Saturday evening he proceeded to get busy. A few of the boys had found out about it and about the time Jack started he was called to the phone. Six calls in the next six minutes brought Jack up red in the face, and we don't blame him, for the calls continued a large part of the evening. The next time he washes windows Jack says he is going to do it on the Q. T.

Roy Strong is minus a fine garden hose, borrowed by someone who undoubtedly thought they needed it worse than he does. Saturday evening while taking turns at phoning window washer Jack Berry, one of the boys called up 204 and said, "Hello, is this Mrs. Lloyd?" "Yes," was the answer. "Well," said the voice, "this is the city marshal. Your husband is in the city bastille, charged with stealing Roy Strong's garden hose." "Oh, no. You can't fool me," came the reply. And bang, went the phone. Sorrowfully, we again called up long suffering Jack.

Mr. Weiss, traveler for the Underwood Typewriter Company, welcomed his two sisters, Grace and Minnie, Sunday morning, for a visit of several weeks. Their home is in St. Louis. They are now on a trip with him in the Black Hills.

WEIGHT OF OVERLAND CAR

James Keeler, agent for the Overland automobile, weighed a Model 69-T on the city scales the other day. With lighting and starting equipment it weighed 2620 pounds. Without the electric lighting and starting equipment the weight is 160 pounds less.

BIG LOSSES BY LIGHTNING THIS YEAR

Fred Molling, of the insurance firm of Snoddy & Molling, states that the loss by lightning, on stock especially, is heavier than usual this year. The companies which they represent here are paying already between $4,000 and $5,000 losses in this section of the country.

BACK FROM WYOMING

W. G. Gentry was in Alliance Tuesday on his way back to Ellsworth from Manville, Wyo., where he and his family have been spending their leave of absence from his claim in the Spade neighborhood. Mr. Gentry informs The Herald that there has been plenty of rain in the part of Wyoming that he was in and that the country there looks good.

FIRE IN REFRIGERATOR CAR

Fire, caused probably by sparks from a locomotive, did slight damage to a refrigerator car filled with fruit, which stood on the tracks near the Burlington freight depot, on Friday the fourth. The department was called out just before noon. A high wind was blowing at the time and if a conflagration had started it would have been hard stopping. The fire was extinguished with the hose which is used for watering passenger trains.

MAKE EXTENDED TRIP

E. Becker and Link Lowry started for eastern Nebraska Tuesday morning. "Bill" was driving his Studebaker car, accompanied by his family, and Link drove a new Ford. They went together as far as Grand Island, where Bill went south to Hastings. Link continued to Lincoln. He will return the last of the week with a new Case roadster for Dr. Copesey. Link will visit his brother at Grand Island on the return trip. Bill will make an extended trip, taking about three months, before he decides definitely where he will locate.

generator in a rear corner of the building, to gasoline which had run over when the tank was filled. The tank did not explode, but the loose gasoline blazed up and set the surrounding woodwork on fire. The fire department did not find it necessary to use the hose but water was thrown on the blaze with a bucket. The damage done was slight.

SAMPLE OF GOOD RYE

Thos. J. Lawrence called at The Herald office the first of the week and left a bunch of rye which he had taken from a twenty acre field on his place eight miles northeast of the city. It had been pulled up by the roots and showed a good growth of straw with heads well filled.

Celebration at Hemingford

A large number of Alliance people celebrated at Hemingford on the fourth. Most of them made the trip in autos, although quite a number went on the trains. The music by the band, the auto parade, and the wrestling contest were the principal features of the day, to say nothing of the great fireworks display perpetrated by Ora Phillips, the Marsland magnate, who, tired of no firecrackers or fire-orks, prohibited by city ordinance there, purchased the stock of a dealer and set them all off at once before stopped by the marshal.

CONTEST INSURANCE PAYMENT

Modern Woodmen Will Not Pay Insurance on Life of Johnny Boyle

Dr. C. W. Fegers, of Nebraska City, member of the National Sanatorium Comite, M. W. of A., was in Alliance on Saturday, looking up matters in connection with the death of Johnny Boyle, the wealthy Mitchell cattleman who died in March in an automobile just pulling into Greeley, Colorado, from Mitchell, in company with friends on their way to Denver.

The insurance company believe that death resulted from acute alcoholism and are making investigations for the purpose of proving their claims if possible. Mr. Boyle carried a policy of $3,000 in the M. W. of A. and it is said that if it can be proven that he died from the effects of alcohol and it can be proved that he was a habitual drinker, the policy will be invalid. It is said that in making application for the insurance he stated that he did not use liquor habitually.

Mr. Boyle carried other policies in case the M. W. of A. succeed.
